

[In-Tier] W3-4ty Budget Speedbait

Hi all! This is [DÀRK] EdwardGenius, also known as EdwardSavages within the DÀRK community as I rolled two consecutive savages. Huge credits to BillyIdol, SuarezBitMe, Neflarian for once carried me to get clover wb myths, which made the rest of the pieces of this build farmable by myself. <3 DÀRK <3

Team

Bleex +5:

- 3x leg barrier pumps with average 1.7 stat
- Epic redirect bone
- DR according to HP chip
- Optional! It can be whichever hefty tank; barrier is not necessary. The primary motivation is to help with shock stacks for faster boss fights.

Lerky +0:

- 2x DS pumps (1 myth 1 leg) and 1x EMP pump
- Any offensive bone
- Any offensive chip
- Optional! Babosun or Flakit would work too.

Walkthrough

Mob waves

Protect yourself first then everyone, make sure to observe enemy skillset to know who to prioritize your protection. Kill the dps mobs quickly and spam 6SP to enrage both lerkies to max.

Bosses

Use Lerky 2SP to shock the closest 3, with two of the fully enraged shock stacks, you just need a DS proc or bleex proc to set off the tactical nuke. If the boss is still standing, use 2SP target skill instead. Target on Dr. E itself, and tanky mobs for Robosawa and Washi. If there are no tanky mobs just target the boss and keep the protection on for the tanks.

Experience

Offhand and ring can be whichever, I specifically picked radiance for its wonderful stat distribution. Low attack stats are imperative in raising your turn rate.

I find SP flamium to be much better than freezium as it allows me to set off a huge lerky nuke very early in the boss fights. Less alive mobs = less variance and surprise.

I used lower tier leg enchants (not necessarily + speed) as long as they have very low attack.

Watch out for the attack twice monsters! My lerky got one-shotted by the captain babosun alien.

I won the first attempt even when: my first two encounter was bosses (robo & washi) where I couldn't prepare the nuke strat, and my bleex died out (revive used and still ded) after the very second encounter.

Build

See you on the DÀRK side!